What would you like to say about the issue?

I have lived in Aberdeen and Aberdeenshire all my life. I love Aberdeen - a beautiful city with access to green spaces - parks and the green belt. The green belt being eroded will create a concrete jungle and the quality of peoples' lives will be decreased. Wildlife is dependant on areas of rough land and a suitable habitat. It is sad to see this being ignored. I expect the tourist industry will suffer when we will be just another large city like many others. When I watched the funeral of Richard's on TV I noticed that around the Cathedral there was a large, open, green area which made it very attractive and the building could be easily appreciated. I strongly feel that we should not be looking at things in the short term and realise that once the green areas are gone they will not be there for future generations to enjoy.

What change would you like to see made?

We are a small country, I would like to see a change in the attitude of planners and builders who seem to be intent on concreting over more and more green areas.
